Our vision in Global Biostatistics & Data Sciences

We will fully enable and shift as much as possible to open-source & R based programming and output generation by 2027

This includes

- Clinical Trial Report and Submission reporting
- Exploratory analyses
- Interactive apps and other related tools (markdown/quarto etc.)
- Version control environments like bitbucket/GitHub for code sharing
- Establishing processes fit for open-source and the “next new thing”

Open-source investment

At Boehringer Ingelheim, we are proud to be a part of the open-source community, contributing and collaborating across industries to drive innovation and growth. We are not just investing in open-source, we are investing in the future. Together, we can shape a future where open-source is the norm, not the exception.
