Dandelion Hub -

A central repository for de-central civil political actions for eco-social justice based on R/Shiny

Wilmar Igl, PhD

Why civil political action?

- Multiple, parallel crises in the anthropocene, e.g. climate crisis [B1-6]
- Political systems are not working
(cf “Bad behavior is good politics.”, Bueno De Mesquita et al. [C1, C2])
- Decision makers (“elite”) in societies manipulate people in their interest using ”soft power” (eg, framing, misinformation) and ”hard power” (eg, fines, force, prison) (Chomsky, 1988/1989, [C6, C7])
- Humans are kind, but weak (Bregman, 2021 [C4]; Arendt, 1963 [C5])
- Decision makers are dependent on good will of people (Sharp, 1973 [C9])
- Non-violent, civil political action (“civil resistance”) can redistribute power and wealth in a society to achieve greater social justice [C9, C10, C11, C12, B7]

- A central database backend to store data of de-central civil political actions
 - Calendar for future actions
 - Archive for past actions
- An action-based social network for politically active civilians
 - connect with other people doing an action
 - discuss, plan, protest, report, publish, & learn

➡ Change in Society!

The screenshot shows the Dandelion Hub start page in a web browser. The address bar displays 'https://dhub.global' with a 70% zoom level. The page features the Dandelion Hub logo, which consists of a stylized dandelion seed head icon and the text 'The Dandelion Hub' with the tagline 'Seed Action. Harvest Change.' below it. A navigation bar contains links for '[V1.80.00P]', 'Overview', 'Enter Action -', 'Show Actions -', 'Networks -', 'Documentation -', 'Print', and 'Donate!'. The main content area has a section titled 'GET INFO FROM PREVIOUS ACTION?' with a subtext 'Do you want to copy info from a previous action to save you some work typing (or reset web form)?'. Below this is a form field labeled 'IDENTIFIER OF PREVIOUS ACTION? [cf ActionInstanceId]' with a 'Missing' value. Three buttons are present: 'GET PREVIOUS ACTION & UPDATE BELOW!', 'HIDE ACTION!', and 'RESET WEB FORM!'. A horizontal orange line separates this section from the next, titled 'ENTER INFO OF ACTION!'. The subtext here is 'You really should enter this info (What? When? Where? Who?), unless you have a good reason not to.' The form fields include: 'TITLE OF ACTION? (e.g. 'Weekly Climate Protest at City Hall, Randomtown')' with a 'Missing' value; 'ORGANISATION OR MOVEMENT? (e.g. 'Friday For Future Randomtown '))' with a 'Missing' value; 'NUMBER OF ACTIVISTS? [Note: Leave empty for a future action!]' with a value of '0'; and 'LINK (OR CONTACT) TO INFO ABOUT ACTION? [PROTECT YOURSELF AND OTHERS!]' with a 'Missing' value. Another horizontal orange line is at the bottom of the visible form area.
